

U.S. Army Air Corps
Fifteenth Air Force
461st Bombardment Group (H)
767th Squadron

B-24 Missions

Bruce A. Thompson, Cpl. 19188685

18 missions - 142.5 combat hours. Most as tail gunner, some as electronic radar jammer.

No.	Date	Destination	Target
1	1-8-45	Klagenfurt, Austria	Marshalling yard
2	1-20-45	Linz, Austria	Marshalling yard
3	2-1-45	Graz, Austria	Marshalling yard
4	2-16-45	Rosenheim, Germany	Marshalling yard
5	3-1-45	Vienna, Austria	Moosebierbaum Oil Refinery
6	3-12-45	Vienna, Austria	Florisdorf Oil Refinery
7	3-15-45	Wiener-Neustadt, Austria	Marshalling yard
8	3-20-45	Wels, Austria	Marshalling yard
9	3-22-45	Vienna, Austria	Kagran-Florisdorf Oil Ref.
10	3-23-45	Vienna, Austria	Florisdorf Oil Refinery
11	3-26-45	Vienna, Austria	Strazhof Marshalling yard
12	4-5-45	Brescia, Italy	Marshalling yard
13	4-9-45	Near Bologna, Po River north Italy	8th Army front
14	4-10-45	Near Bologna, Po River north Italy	8th Army front
15	4-15-45	Naversa, Italy	Railroad bridge
16	4-19-45	Avisio, Italy	Railroad bridge
17	4-20-45	Lusia, Italy	Bridge
18	4-23-45	Bedia, Italy	Bridge

The above dates may not all coincide with dates of missions flown by my crew members because (a) some of my crew may have flown with other crews on other missions, and (b) I flew some as a radar jammer on a plane with that equipment which may not have included the rest of my crew.

Also, the pilot, co-pilot and engineer flew some low level mercy missions immediately after the war in Europe ended, dropping supplies to front line troops and prisoner of war camps.